“ Thinking of You As You Honor Your Mother

You'll never forget your mother's face, the sound of her voice, the gentleness of her touch...they let you know you were loved. You'll never forget the stories she told, the traditions she handed down...they let you know who you are. You'll never forget the lessons she taught, the things she stood for...they are her gift and your legacy. You'll never forget and you'll always know that you honor her every day in how you live and who you are. "Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of His saints. “ Reading through all of the other messages we can tell that Armoury was very much loved and must have led a wonderful life. We regret that we did not get the chance to meet Armoury because we know she would have only made us better people for knowing her. Part of us is always going to have to wonder what piece of greatness we never received for not getting to know a woman as loved as her, but we are grateful that she had so much love in her life and was surrounded by so many that she loved.

“ Dear Family,

I have known Marsha since mid-1960's in college days. We spent many hours together in college. We kind of lost each other for awhile and then reconnected in Nebraska at campmeetings. In fact our two kids were about the same age and we had lots to discuss. Those were times when a sincere friend was what you needed to get through tough times. Then we would potluck Sabbaths or come over to the house for social time. Now it is through emails that we keep in touch as well.

I know that your Mother must have been a wonderful person to be such an inspiration to Marsha and to instill life values to her. I know she has gone through many times of desperation when people are ill, such as recently when a sister had surgery. She is devoted to family and Mother must have given her those traits. She has a very close connection with Jesus and we must all have that connection. We want Jesus to come and raise our family members to new life and we can live with them forever in Heaven made new.

I know your hearts are hurting so much right now, but I pray for courage, peace, and committment to meet again in Heaven with your Mother.

*My love to all of you,

“ As the glow of the descending sun lights up the mountain peaks long after the sun itself has sunk behind the hills, so the works of the pure, the holy, and the good shed light upon the world long after the actors themselves have passed away. Their works, their words, their example, will forever live. "The righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance." Psalm 112:6
