“ Many congratulations on your performance tonight. Although Chandi looked hot she gave her all. The look of sheer adoration and trust she gives you will stay with me all my life. I lost my old girl at 13 and a half just a year ago but up to her last and only 3 days of illness she had as much energy and joy of life that I see in Chandi. ##imported-begin##VioletandScarlet##imported-end##

“ Aunt Ethylene loved everyone and everyone loved her. There are so many great memories. The latest being when I brought her home from the hospital and I asked her if she had ever seen Beech Lake when it snowed. We went down to the lake, she said it was the most beautiful thing she had ever seen. The geese were there and it was spectacular. Then she looked at me and said it was beautiful but the farm was even more beautiful. It was a privilege to love and care for "Aunt E". She never complained and was never negative during her illness. Our family has been overwhelmed by the love and kindness shown to us during this time.##imported-begin##Tony Rogers##imported-end##

“ As a kid growing up in St. Louis the highlight of my summer was going to visit uncle JT, aunt Ethylene and Max. I was always trying to get me to do something like walk up to the cemetery after dark and touch one of the stones, or maybe put just a little pinch of chaw between my cheek and gum. I remember Ethylene telling me, "lordy son, don't you listen to him" Max would just look at me and say "he's gonna get you.

The food, when Ethylene cooked the table would be so full of meats and vegetables you couldn't hardly find a place to put your plate. After eating everyone would be so full it was hard to walk.

When it was time to leave Ethylene would always insist everyone spend the night. If there weren't enough beds we could sleep on pallets on the floor.

Aunt Ethylene had a heart of gold, and I will always remember how she affected my life in such a positive way.

Cannot be there this weekend but we send our love and will keep the family in our thoughts and prayers.
