“ I remember Aunt Gladys as a wonderful, generous and hard working person. Many times she cooked meals for my family when we dropped in unexpectedly. Her house was always spotless and uncluttered.

Sometimes she would call her husband Henry down for some statement he thought was funny.

She was a special person and I loved her.##imported-begin##Kristin Garrett##imported-end##

“ Mr. Silas always called me his little girl. We would sit on his porch drinking RC colas with peanuts and eating moonpies while enjoying the breeze that came shooting through the dog run. But I knew who his real little girl was. And she would always give me a big smile and hug at church. It didn't take too many years before I was bigger than her. I always thought she was an amazing woman. She was the first person I knew to have twins. That takes alot of woman! I remember going by the house on the way to or from swimming with a group from the church and she had watermelons for us to eat. And the biggest garden I had ever seen! I remember the boys getting married one by one and what special ladies they had to find that would even compare to their mom. Even after I moved away from home I knew that when I visited Oak Grove on Sundays I would find her there with a smile and a hug for me. I wish I were there to return all those hugs to the family but know that in my heart I am. When I dream of building my own house the plans always include a dog run just like Mr. Silas had. I know he is happy to once again be reunited with his little girl.##imported-begin##Linda Houston Steiger##imported-end##

“ I'm a great-niece of Aunt Gladys. My father is John Ray Zimmerle (John & Bertie's oldest son). I'm so sorry to hear of her death; she was a wonderful lady. Now she's joining Marlene, and her mother and father and all her other family in heaven with Jesus.

I remember visiting Aunt Gladys and Uncle Henry at their home in Scotts' Hill back in the '60s & '70s when I was young. She made good homemade yellow cake from scratch, and was always so sweet and soft-spoken. She had tidy bedrooms with colorful needlepoint adorning tables, and chifforobes and buffed wood floors. Her home was pleasant well-tended.

The last time I saw her was in the summer of 1997 at the John Henry Zimmerle (her father-in-law) descendants' reunion in Lexington, TN.

I extend my condolences, and lift up prayers in behalf of Jackie, Jerry, Glenn your families in your loss.
