“ Eugene got me interested in collecting arrowheads when I was in elementary school. He drew a map for me that showed where a beautiful white quartz baby arrowhead was located. He took Rande and me on a coon hunt one night when we were young boys. My aunt Jeanne and uncle Paul Carson gave me a 3/4 sized guitar when I was in high school. Eugene was a fan of Merle Haggard and I wanted to learn to play the guitar. Eugene showed me the chords to Branded Man which started me on the road to learning guitar. He was my first cousin once removed, and our families attended Austin Chapel Church of Christ where we grew up together. As age brought more health issues, I am glad that he is at home with the Father and Christ where he is whole again.
