“ To a person who was like my own mom. Now you have gone home to be with granny and your dad. Brandon and Marget is waiting to see you with all their love. I will miss you but you will always have a place in my heart. I told you I loved you several times but people forget that love goes along way. I know in my heart that you had plenty of love to go around so maybe alot of people will think twice from now owned when they tell some of the love that they had for you. I know that Johnny loved you very much. I know I was with him for a long time. May god bless and we will see you there one of these days in heaven say hello to daddy for me and uncle charles##imported-begin##Dorothy Johnson##imported-end##

“ Ms. Reba,

You have always been a tough, independant woman who commanded respect not by word, but in deed. You had a quiet way of showing your strength and love. This poem reminds me a lot of you and it is one of my favorites. To me it illustrates how precious life is, and you ma'dame, personified it. The hard fought battle is over, it is time to go home. You will be missed and don't worry, I will watch over Johnny for you... much love cm

Do not go gentle into that good night.... Dylan Thomas

*Do not go gentle into that good night,
Old age should burn and rave at close of day;
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.
Though wise men at their end know dark is right,
Because their words had forked no lightning they
Do not go gentle into that good night.*

*Good men, the last wave by, crying how bright
Their frail deeds might have danced in a green bay,
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.*

*Wild men who caught and sang the sun in flight,
And learn, too late, they grieved it on its way,
Do not go gentle into that good night.*

*Grave men, near death, who see with blinding sight
Blind eyes could blaze like meteors and be gay,
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.*

*And you, my father, there on the sad height,
Curse, bless me now with your fierce tears, I pray.
Do not go gentle into that good night.*

*Rage, rage against the dying of the light.##imported-begin##Cris

“ God is on the throne in heaven and now my best friend is seated at His feet.

We had the best times here on earth but talked of the day one of us would go on ahead and save the other a seat. You made it Sissy. I miss you already but I will see you in that golden land.

To her children I say "She loved you all, each and every one, it never mattered to her where you were or what you were doing....She Loved you. And because of that I love you too."

I honor you my friend with love forever.
