“ Dr. May, I am so very sorry for the loss of your dad. You spoke so much of him in class and it's for sure you learned the value of hard work from him since you talk often about how much of a hard worker he was, as well as a dedicated family man. Time will be your best friend now. My thoughts are with you and your family. Again, I'm truly sorry for your loss.###imported-begin##Renee Yarrington###imported-end##

“ Thank you all for the comments you have made about my dad. It was nice to see all of his friends and family come by today to see him.

I look back at all the memories I have of my dad and some of the most memorable ones that I can recall is the hard work we did around our farm in Charlestown. At the time, I did not like getting up so early in the morning to work in the garden, mow the yard, or sweep out the garage, but as I have grown older I really appreciate how dad taught us the importance of hard work. I also remember my dad as one of the most respected men that I have ever known. I can honestly recall of no one that disliked my dad. Whenever someone saw him I remember most everyone called him Mr. Jack. My dad had a smile for everyone he met and helped so many people out throughout his life. He taught us the importance of respect as well as hard work.

As we continue to go on with life I will always have a special place in my heart for my dad for everything he taught me. And even though I probably did not thank him enough for what he did. I know he understands what he meant and means to me.

I love you dad and will miss you so much, but I know someday I will see you again. Until then, you will be dearly missed by all of us and you will be in each of our hearts each day.###imported-begin##John May###imported-end##
