“ My cousins, Johnny and Jimmy, were two of the cutest little boys I've ever known. I'll try to upload a picture of them made in 1951. Johnny was a dear, sweet person, and he fought his battle with Parkinson's courageously. He will be greatly missed.

“ The last time my wife and I visited Johnny at Lexington Manor he and I reminisced about a one day fishing trip we took to Pickwick Landing years ago. It was one of those rare days in April when the crappie were doing everything but jumping into the boat. We nearly filled the live well with bass and crappie. Neither of us ever forgot it. We are cousins and we go all the way back to his early childhood playing on granddaddy Penix's farm. I'll miss Johnny very much.
