“ I still think of you every single day, Jon. It's weird to be a 30 year old man and still feel like just yesterday we were hanging out together after school. If anyone out there is reading this - take a moment to reflect on a happy memory you shared with Jon. Smile, and remember that he will live on in our hearts forever. He will always be missed, but he will never be forgotten by any of us.

“ Jan,
I have been praying for you and your family, that Jesus will pick you up and carry you in your darkest hour, that He will bring you comfort and peace that passes all understanding. Peace that only He can bring. Know that we love you and are thinking of you and praying for you everytime you cross our minds. "In the morning we will hear of your unfailing love for we have put our trust in you." PS.

“ *The Conner High School Family is sorry for your & our loss. We to will miss Jon's smile a smile that was contagious (he'd grin from ear to ear) and make those around him grin with him. He used that smile whenever he did something to a peer that could possibly get him into a ticklish situation; like teasing a female student that he liked, he would say things like "your fat" or "your teeth are crooked" to one of the girl's in my class and when they complained to me that Jon was teasing them he would give them his million dollar smile to appease the situation. Jon would show his grin and the problem with the girls would just melt away, he'd say Mr. Haddox "I wouldn't say that" and just grin while the girls complained.
My how he teased the girls...*
