“ Kevin is a one of a kind. He could always make you smile and laugh. Meeting him and Christy many, many years ago is a memory I will never forget. Then to be married to his cousin years later is a blessing. I don't ever recall a time seeing him that hunting and fishing was talked about. He loved the outdoors. The stories I have heard will always remain in my heart. Kevin is a man of God that everyone should want to be like. We love him more than he could ever imagine. He was a great man with a huge heart. He always let his light shine for God. I know that he is rejoicing right now with family and friends. He will be missed everyday though. He was just that kind of a man. I am so proud to be able to say that I know this wonderful man. It was a blessing to just be around him.

Lisa Robertson - January 17, 2017 at 04:25 PM

Kevin was always happy to help anyone any way that he could. I recall one day when my daughter was working in the yard cleaning up, and Kevin came over, he was trying to help and wasn't able but he tried that was how selfless he was. I made him come sit on the porch with me but it took alot to convince him. He was a wonderful man, husband and father. My heart breaks for his family. God Bless You All.
