“ Tony was so many things to me, a true friend, my first love, my first husband, the father of my two precious daughters, and then a member of my family for the rest of his life. I will forever miss Tony and have so many memories of him. I could write a book about Tony, read it over and over, and laugh and cry every time. Although our lives together took us in different directions, our bond forever was our children and grandchildren. Tony and Tasha and Robby and I, as parents and grandparents, had a unique relationship with each other in that we put aside any insecurities and negativity and formed a "family" where we could all be together to to enjoy our children's weddings, birth of grandchildren, birthdays, holidays, ballgames, and any other times that families get together. We never made our kids choose between two different sides of the family. I'm thankful for the memories we made and will cherish them forever. To Tasha, Louise, Amber, Kellie, and Celisa, I will always be here for you. I loved you and will miss you Tony and pray that we'll see each other again one day.

“ Tony was 13 when we first met and at that time neither of us ever dreamed we would eventually marry into the same family. I have nothing but the fondest of memories of Tony. As everyone knows, no matter how aggravated you might get with him, you just couldn't stay mad at him. He wouldn't let you. There was absolutely nothing he would not do for friends and family. He used to call my kids at Christmas when they were little and play Santa Claus on the phone. I am a much richer person for having had him in my life and consider myself fortunate to have known him for so long.

“ Tony had been through so much and every time it made him a better person and man. I remember when he called me the first time he rode his bike after losing his leg. He sounded like a kid at Christmas. It is an honor that he called me friend. I will miss him.

*Tony was "Best Man" in our wedding. He was always such a special person & will truly be missed. Danny has lost so many close to him in just the last few weeks. All of them that were way too young to leave this world, but left behind so many great memories we shared together. May God bless all of his family & friends
